Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,4-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Winston (5,135,528).

With respect to claim 1, Winston disclose a cutting instrument (1) comprising a handle (5) a head (7) having a distal end with a blade (20), the head connected to the handle; and, a spacer means (22) connected to the head for extending a spacing between a pair of bones forming a joint.

A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

With respect to claims 4-7, Winston discloses all the limitations, as set forth in column 2, lines 10-68, column 3, lines 1-12 and as seen in the FIGS.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2,3 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 3732

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art fails to disclose or reasonably teach a ligament cutter comprising a pair of joints spacers, the blade spanning the joint spacers, the joint spacer having a thickness.

Claims 7-18 are allowed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
